

Your little brother calls you a gross guy. You call him a gross guy back. Move back 2 spaces.

Your little brother is crying and screaming and giving you a headache. You cuddle him and read him a book. Go ahead 3 spaces.

A kid at school says your idea for the group project is lame. You tell her that her picture is under the definition for lame in the dictionary. Move back 2 spaces.

Someone says your idea is lame. You say you value their opinion and cleverly come up with a compromise. Go ahead 3 spaces.

A mean kid drops his ice cream on the ground. He's mean anyway, he deserved it, you walk around him. Move back 4 spaces.

A mean kid drops his ice cream. No one deserves that. You stop and invite him to your house for a new one. Go ahead 4 spaces.

A mean kid falls and scrapes his knee and is crying. He'd probably say something mean if you stop. You walk around. Move back 4 spaces.

A mean kid falls and scrapes his knee. You stop and offer to help him get home. Go ahead 4 spaces.

Your mom calls you to help set the table for dinner. You pretend you can't hear her. Move back 2 spaces.

Your mom calls you to set the table. You go right away and have a friendly chat while setting up. Move ahead 4 spaces.

You and your sister want to watch different shows on the TV at the same time. You throw a loud fit because she finds the remote first and goes to her channel. Move back 3 spaces.

You and your sister want to watch different shows on the TV at the same time. You tell her to go ahead and watch. You've actually seen all the episodes of your show a million times already. Move ahead 4 spaces.

You know the Golden Rule off by heart: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Move ahead 4.

You think you know the meaning of life: Do whatever you want as long as you don't get caught. WRONG ANSWER! Move back 4 spaces.

You feel a sneeze coming on, but don't make a move to cover and spray everyone with germs. Way to be a gross guy. Move back 5 spaces.

You feel a sneeze coming on and cover your face with your sleeve, then courteously wash your germy hands. Go ahead 5 spaces.

You have a friend named Shelly and you think Smelly is a pretty funny nickname for her, but she doesn't like it. You continue to call her Smelly anyway. Move back 5 spaces.

You have a friend named Shelly and when people call her Smelly, you tell them it's very mean. Move ahead 5 spaces.

You're building blocks with your friend and you knock the tower over. Your friend starts to cry. Move back 4 spaces.

You're building blocks with your friend and you knock the tower over. When she starts to cry you tell her you're sorry. Move ahead 4 spaces.

You're not very good at soccer, and a mean kid on your team always laughs at you when you miss the ball. One day, the mean kid misses the ball and you laugh at him so he'll know how he made you feel. Move back 8 spaces.

You're not very good at soccer, and a mean kid on your team always laughs at you when you miss the ball. One day, the mean kid misses the ball, but you know how bad you felt when he laughed at you, so you don't laugh, and cheer him on instead. Move ahead 8 spaces.

A kid in your class tells a story. You have a better story to tell, and you begin to tell it really loudly so everyone can hear it. Move back 4 spaces.

A kid in your class a story. You have a better story to tell, but wait patiently until the other kid is done telling his story, then put your hand up to tell yours. Move ahead 4 spaces.

You're having a good game of smash crash with your trucks. A baby crawls into the line of smashing and you accidentally smack her. You keep playing - she shouldn't have gotten in the way. Move back 6 spaces.

You're having a good game of smash crash with your trucks. A baby crawls into the line of smashing and you accidentally smack her. You feel badly about this and give her a hug, then let her join in a more gentle version of the game. Move ahead 6 spaces.

You are eating supper and have a great story to tell. Your mouth is full of mashed potatoes but you can't wait to chew and swallow. As you tell, everybody around the table can see great gobs of white goo in your mouth and some plopping on the table. Ewww. Move back 5.

At suppertime, you are eating mashed potatoes when you remember you have a great story to tell. But you chew your food carefully and swallow before starting your story. Move ahead 6.

You have just been shopping and got a terrific new toy. You clomp up the steps fast in your muddy boots to show mom. Move back 5.

You've been shopping and dad got you a new toy. You take off your muddy boots first before you run into the house to show it to mom. Move ahead 6.